

PROVEN LEADERSHIP. UNSHAKABLE COMMITMENT.

Thomas Bell for Vice President, Camps

With a decade of experience inside the camps, Thomas Bell has never backed down from a fight. He's stood shoulder to shoulder with officers through grievances, investigations, and Skelly hearings — and he's called out disrespect from supervisors and managers the moment he saw it. To Thomas, “trusted leadership in tough times” means showing up, speaking up, and fighting back — no matter who's in the room.

Thomas knows firsthand that the department's biggest challenges — unsafe camps, forced reassignments, and stalled promotions — won't be fixed by silence. He's committed to keeping camps open and safe, stopping deployments, and creating real paths to promotion for officers who've been stuck in place for years. His fight is for those who hold the line every day, often without recognition but never without pride.

“I don't sugarcoat it,” Thomas says. “Your fight is my fight — and I'm here to win with you.” Fearless in front of the Board of Supervisors and unflinching in his defense of members, Thomas Bell brings heart, honesty, and grit to the fight for a stronger union and a department worth retiring from.
